[Updated October 2018]

Welcome to the November edition of our parish newsletter.

Reviewing the magazine before I press the send button, I notice this month promises to be another whirlwind of social engagements. I am really looking forward to a convivial evening with neighbours at the Garden Club Annual dinner on November 10th as well as the World War I experience in the Parish Church on the 3rd but looking ahead I notice a few events cropping up to help us with our Christmas gift shopping.

Christmas Gift Shopping

On 24th November, you can peruse our very own Vicar's collection of hand thrown pottery or on the 1st December there's a Christmas fair to raise funds for the Spalding Hall or for the sweet toothed relative who appears to have everything, you could consider some locally produced honey from Hooperton Farm.

There's even some activities if you feel like doing a bit of exercise! On 17th November why not head down to the Parish Church to assist with the ongoing annual maintenance work?

SAS are recruiting

Render Specialist and Cheriton Bishop based business, SAS, are currently looking for staff, see page 11 for details and so too is our Parish Council, please see page 5.

For friends you have yet to meet

And I have had a bit of a plea from Jean Martin who helps organise the Acorn lunches at Woodleigh Coach House. Jean tells me that numbers are tailing off and they could really do with a boost. For the uninitiated, Acorn lunches provide an opportunity to get to know your neighbours in a relaxed and neutral setting - a bit like a lunch club but all the catering and clearing up is done for you! Any age group is welcome and plans are afoot to play some 'games' to help you get to know one another. If you have a Thursday afternoon free and fancy a cooked meal amongst friends you haven't met yet, please call Jean and she will make sure you feel welcome.

Classified Section

I am also trialling a new section of classified adverts. If you have anything you want to buy, sell or rent, please let me know and I will include it in the next issue. If this section is successful, we may make some very small charges to help pay for the newsletter.

And finally please don't forget that the next edition is for both December and January so please let me have your copy for both months by 23rd November.

Well that's it for this month. Enjoy!

Deadline for the Dec/Jan issue: 23rd November at 6pm.

Please email your copy to cheritonnews@gmail.com or phone Andrea if you can only supply a paper copy.

Councillor's comments.....

Looking back at a remarkable Summer I think most of us can say that we have enjoyed and appreciated the warmth of the sunshine.

It has been a difficult year for the farmers, particularly those with livestock. The gardeners have not fared much better but at least we did not have a hosepipe ban imposed.

The litter pick coincided with a damp Saturday morning and a good number came to help. We call it a litter pick but it is not just litter that is collected. Pavements are swept, kerbs adjoining the road get the same treatment, hedges are trimmed and over-hanging branches are cut back and cleared away.

On the evening of the same day the Village Hall was filled for the Harvest Supper and after an excellent meal we were entertained with the musical talent from within and local to Cheriton Bishop.

It has been good to see over the past couple of months that Devon Highways have cleaned water tables and gulleys in the area and may I say that they made an excellent job of it too. In the last few weeks several potholes and rough areas in the roads have been patched.

In a few weeks time on November 11th we have the opportunity to come together at 11am in an 'Act of Remembrance' at Cheriton Cross. This is a unique year being the Centenary of the ending of the First World War and in addition to this Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day coincide on November 11th. Let us come together to remember those who gave their lives in the First and Second World Wars and others in other more recent conflicts.

Announcing

Devon and Cornwall Police Alert System

We are actively trying to encourage all members of our community to sign up to our Alert system,

Simply type the following URL link into your internet search bar to register (it doesn't take long!)

<https://alerts.dc.police.uk/Join>

Devon and Cornwall Alert is a two way community messaging system operated by Devon and Cornwall Police. The system helps us to connect with our communities, it tells people what is happening in their area and allows them to respond directly with any information.

The system is designed to allow people who register to choose the type of information they would like to receive concerning crime and anti-social behaviour, witness appeals, crime prevention, community events and local good news.

Subscribers will not be notified about every crime or incident that happens in their community. Our aim is to send relevant information where we believe to do so will reduce the opportunity for crime and anti-social behaviour or will help Devon and Cornwall Police solve a crime.

Alert examples.....

- Major incidents
- flood and weather warnings
- RTCs and road closures
- Missing people
- Events affecting large areas
- Burglary, theft
- Assault, robbery
- Criminal damage
- Meetings
- General crime alerts
- Witness appeals

The information that can be shared is beneficial to organisations, businesses and you as an individual living in Devon and Cornwall.

Harvest Supper Update

93 people finally sat down at our Harvest Supper. Many thanks to all who came, all who brought food, especially the delicious puddings (in which Cheriton Bishop really excels), all who brought gifts for the auction and who took part in the bidding (which raised £64), and all who provided entertainment. Despite inflation, and despite having pegged the price for 9 years, we were still able to send £220 to charity, split evenly between the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution and Send A Cow, which helps African farmers.

Thanks everyone!

Tim Gorringe

Cheriton Bishop Walking Group

October was a busy month with a walk to Duck's Pool letterbox. This was the second most remote letterbox after Cranmere Pool which we did last year. This was a long hot walk over remote moorland.

This was followed soon after with a more relaxed walk around Cod Wood on the Sunday.

As an extra we had a very informative presentation on safety and emergency aid for walkers in remote areas, along with demonstrations of safety equipment to carry.

It was pleasing to see a good turnout for all these events.

The November walk will be announced nearer the time by email and on our Facebook page, where details of all walks and reports and photos of past walks may be seen.

If anyone would like to go on our circulation list, please let Dennis or myself know, and please feel free to suggest routes for future walks!

HOOPERTON HONEY

During this lovely summer the bees at Hooperton Farm have been very busy. There has been a profusion of flowers of all sorts which has resulted in various shades of nectar being gathered. Some is darker than usual and we think that came from Chestnut trees in the area. Most of it is a lighter shade of gold produced by the abundance of flowers in the fields and hedgerows .

Honey has many health benefits. For helping with hay fever, the more locally sourced the better.

The bees have plenty of stores to sustain them through the winter, and the surplus is available at £5 a 454g (1lb) jar - the same price as previous years. It is on sale in the "shed" in the drive at Hooperton.

4 jars or more can be delivered.

PPG Blog for November

Well, we've given you a bit of a break after our edifying full page on GDPR policy back in July! But now we are back with some more news from the Surgery.

eConsult online service

For those of us with internet access, we now have an additional and alternative way of contacting our doctor. There is a new online facility to enable you to ask simple questions of your own doctor without the need to make an appointment or phone the surgery. You start the process by going onto the Surgery website: www.cheritonbishopppractice.co.uk. A little way down the page you will see a blue box

- click on 'Get Started'

You can ask for specific advice, general advice or administrative advice in addition to checking out symptoms/conditions in the list of topics lower down this page.

When you have decided which type of help you need, click the relevant box and follow the simple stages completing the information requested. You will be asked for your personal details and for details of all your current medication. This then leads you to a box where you can write in your question.

Here are some examples:

e.g. My gout is becoming progressively worse. Would it be ok to increase the dose of my medication and, if so, by how much?

e.g. My back pain has returned, any chance of a physio appointment?

e.g. I need another sick note for work please, up to next Friday.

This then enables your doctor to consider the best step forward for you. Your doctor will respond within 2 working days to your email address or by telephone.

Not only will this help you but it will also hopefully help the surgery and doctors by reducing the number of booked appointments and telephone calls. Let's all give it a try!

And finally, Let's not forget ... The Community Garden which is available to patients who would like the joy of being outside, maybe a spot of light gardening or just a space for contemplation. The garden is at Tedburn St Mary allotments and there is a shed containing some tools, chairs, etc. Anyone interested in finding out more should contact the Surgery on 01647 24405, speak to a member of staff, or even leave a message about it on eConsult (as above)!

CAB @ Cheriton Bishop Surgery
Citizens Advice Bureau

On the 4th Friday in each month

we now have a number of time slots that you can book with a senior fully trained professional CAB adviser on site at Cheriton Bishop Surgery

They can deal with many issues, such as advice about Money, Benefits, Housing, Employment, Family, Health, Law or a Crisis where you might need an impartial ear to help you see a way forward.

To book a session, phone the Surgery:

Gardening Club

After the AGM we welcome Sally Burton as our new Chairman and thank David Wolley for his years of service. We also thank Michael Beckett and Peter Watkins for their past help on the committee, and welcome Pat Minter. Janet Grist has kindly agreed to become a Vice-President.

We look forward to our annual dinner on 10th November in the Village Hall, at 7 for 7.30 pm. If you haven't booked your place yet please contact Sally Burton on 24724 to choose your main meal out of Beef Bourguignonne, Chicken Surprise, Honey- roasted Ham, Salmon or Nut Roast. Gardening Club members are invited to bring friends and friends' friends - you do not have to be a member to enjoy this evening, it is a village event. Fruit cup provided but bring your own alcohol. Cost of dinner £10.

Our November meeting has a change of venue and of date. We are having a Willow Workshop, and because we need the space it will be in the Village Hall. The date has been changed to November 26th because of the speaker's availability, but it is open to all. Willow will be provided and we will be doing simple projects which can be completed in an evening. To do a wigwam or other garden support would be a day project - if there is enough demand we would consider laying on a day course next year.

The December meeting follows on closely on December 10th. Again in the Village Hall, and open to everybody, this will be your chance to make a Christmas Wreath to hang on your door. Basic greenery and instruction provided, bring any ornaments you wish to incorporate. Seasonal refreshments !

DAY SCHOOL - Christmas beading

Wednesday 21st November 10am-4pm

This month we welcome Jenny Arnold who will demonstrate and enlighten us with her passion for Spindle spinning. This ancient skill is still practiced in many countries and is growing in popularity with crafters in the UK. A few weeks later, many members have signed up for the beading workshop organised by Jal Heartlander. Day Schools are a great opportunity to learn new skills and actually complete projects. The designs are a small Christmas tree, an icicle, a star in a bangle and possibly some Christmas earrings.

The centenary of the end of the World War One.

This year Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day coincide on 11th November. It could not have been imaginable on Monday 11th November 1918 the full significance of the ceasefire at 11 am. There had been several days of negotiation before the ceasefire document was signed at 5.10am just under six hours before the 11am cease-fire. It is reckoned that over 10,000 men were killed, wounded or went missing on the last day of the war. It is a startling reminder of the cost in human lives during the First World War. An interesting fact, for the French soldiers killed on the 11/11/1918, their graves give a date of 10/11/1918. Two explanations are given. The given date 10th November is clearly before the war ended and there could be no dispute over the entitlement to a war pension. Alternatively, the government wanted to avoid the embarrassment of the deaths on the last day of the war. Remembrance Sunday became the National Remembrance Day after the end of World War Two. However, after the 50th anniversary of the end of the Second World War, both Armistice Day and Remembrance were celebrated as a nation. It seems fitting that they should coincide with the centenary.

It was only a couple of years ago that I came across the term 'Thankful Villages'. These were villages where all the soldiers who left the village for the great war returned home. It was thought to be 32 villages, it has now been researched and updated to 52. We might think of these places being able to celebrate their good fortune. The opposite was true, this was actually a source of embarrassment and shame. It is worth remembering that these villages were surrounded by thousands of communities devastated by the loss of young men and fathers, who had made the ultimate sacrifice. The thankful villages appeared not to have sacrificed anything or paid the price. The shame lasted decades, these people could not celebrate their good fortune in the face of other people's grief. These communities, on the whole, had a self-imposed silence and censorship. Today, we call it "survivors' guilt", we would have some understanding of the guilt and shame they would experience. We also suggest that all the returning soldiers would also experience post-traumatic stress. Those thankful villages would have had to manage two very difficult psychological conditions whilst really being obliged to be thankful or grateful! Surprisingly, there are no thankful villages in Devon, given you would need a small community for a thankful village. There is one in Cornwall, one in Dorset, nine in Somerset.

These thankful villages remind us that although the conflict may be over, the physical, emotional and psychological injuries continue for years and possibly a lifetime. We remember all these people afflicted by conflict. We also need to keep caring and supporting them for years to come. That is why the work of organizations like The Royal British Legion and Help for Heroes are so important and need our ongoing support. Whilst we remember all who died, we need to keep caring for those still bearing the injuries and scars of war.

From the Classroom and Beyond
No 206 November 2018

I don't know if you will recall it, but, during the Bicentennial year of the Battle of Trafalgar in 2005 the arrival and transmission of the news of that great battle was marked by retracing the route that Lieutenant John Richards Lapenotière, the Captain of HMS PICKLE, took after his arrival in Falmouth on 4th November 1805. He was tasked with carrying the dispatches reporting the battle and its outcome from

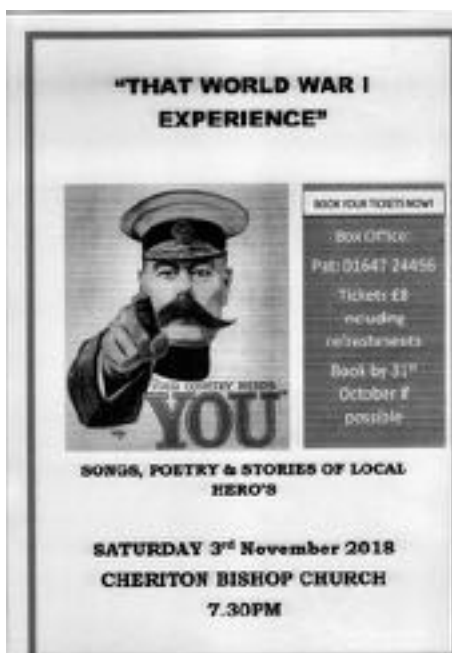

Lord Collingwood, Nelson's Second-in-Command, to the Admiralty in London. Plaques commemorating his journey were placed along the route at all the sites where he was known to have changed horses for his chaise. The closest one to Cheriton Bishop is in Crockernwell just opposite the erstwhile 'Judge Jefferies' pub. So the news of Trafalgar with the great victory against the combined fleet of the French and Spanish Navies together with the news of the death of Admiral Lord Nelson, one of Britain's greatest heroes, must have passed through the village of Cheriton Bishop and one can only conjecture on what the locals must have thought at the time. Nelson was popular throughout the country and his death would have been felt quite deeply by all his countrymen.

It must be at this stage that you are wondering why on earth he is wittering on about Nelson and the Battle of Trafalgar. The actual battle took place on 21st October 1805 and this weekend marks yet another year's passing since the victory. Celebratory dinners and entertainments will be held throughout the land. What a contrast, then, to that other, very sombre, anniversary that we are marking in this year of 2018 – the passing of one hundred years since the armistice marking the end of that awful conflict we know as the First World War. Years of horrendous bloodshed and hardship made sure that there was nothing to celebrate. This latter conflict really did involve the people of the whole country with a whole generation of menfolk providing the backbone of the fighting services. Very few families were untouched by the lists of casualties that were the result of this horrendous slaughter. Earlier this year, in March, a small production called 'That World War 1 Experience' was enacted in our church. Nothing illustrated more the effect that the war had on Cheriton Bishop than to hear the latest telegrams from the front listing the latest casualties, all to families whose names are all familiar to the rest of us. Interspersed with the news from the front, were the reports of home activities, almost banal by their subject matter. As you will see by notices in this copy of the Parish Newsletter, 'That World War 1 Experience' is being staged for one more performance in our church on 3rd November. I would certainly recommend to all those who can to go and see the production. It really does bring home to the audience the effect that that war had on the home front and it adds poignancy to the list of the dead which we read out at the cross on Remembrance Day every year. There could be no greater contrast than that between celebrating victory at Trafalgar and the commemoration of the signing of the Armistice in 1918. I should, perhaps, add that all the above ramblings are my own thoughts on the subject and I leave it to the reader to interpret facts as they find them for themselves!

21st Dec – 1400 - End of Autumn Term

As per usual, it is an action-packed half of a term to come! Before looking at the future we have to go back to September to review what was happening after the last Newsletter was rolling off the presses. Do you remember the session of stormy weather at the end of September? It really put the ‘kibosh’ on Year 1’s Forest School starting on time. Eventually, after two false starts, they were able to get down to it and learn about the great outdoors and enjoy the associated experiences. Well done year 1.

Then again, ‘back along’ as they do say, the school held their Macmillan Coffee Morning and raised £147.00 at the first count. The final Grand Total was actually £196. 66 – nearly £200. Very well done to everybody who was involved with raising that money. That is a total to be proud of!

While I have been talking about the Napoleonic wars and the First World war, Class 3 have been starting to learn all about the Second World war and some of the privations endured by ordinary families – allotments, Anderson shelters, gas masks and economical cooking for example

Harvest was duly celebrated and a large collection of tins and jars of food were donated to the Exeter Food Bank. The result was reported to be “ we had a fantastic response with piles of tins, packages and cartons” Again, this really does deserve a ‘Very Well Done’

Alongside the Harvest celebrations, the children were learning about the harvest around the world . With our concentration on various different ‘corn’ crops, we tend to forget that a large proportion of global harvest involves rice. Class 4 were learning all about the rice harvest in Indonesia! Class 1 on the other hand, have been involved learning about Kenya.

Hmmm.....that does make me feel just a touch on the aged side of life. I was serving in a ship visiting Mombasa when Kenya first gained independence from Britain – it must have been in December 1963 – ouch!

Both classes 3 and 4 spent the day at Farmwise recently and I quote from the Newsletter ‘Class 3 and 4 had a fantastic day at Farmwise this week. The children explored many aspects of farming with loads of hands-on activities and new things to learn. There are more photos on the website under ‘events’. Our children were enthusiastic and beautifully behaved, well done all.’ Well, we do live in the countryside, don’t we?

The school has been lucky enough to obtain some new goal posts and have been able, via Sports Premium money, to upgrade a lot of the PE resources available.

Latest update from Castle Drogo

Hi everyone.

Autumn is here and the colours through the gorge are starting to turn in to a blaze of reds and golds. I don't know about you, but this is my favourite time of the year.

It is finally starting to feel real that we are heading towards the end of the building work now. There is still a lot of work to go but we are very nearly there. The paving is starting to go down on the north end roof sections and we finally have the chapel steps going back in place.

Surviving such a long building project has been helped by the ongoing support from so many local people. We would like to show our appreciation and say 'thank you' for your continued patience, support and understanding by inviting you to a 'locals open day' on Wednesday 28 November 2018, 11am – 3pm. You will get a sneaky peek in to the Castle as the team start to re-present rooms, have a natter with us over a brew about what 2019 is going to look like and, if you would like to join the Castle Drogo team, find out more about volunteering. I hope to see many of you there to meet you in person.

Finally, I have some Christmas related news to share (sorry about mentioning Christmas so early). I have been chatting with the shop team and I am delighted to let you know that they are offering a free gift wrapping service for any presents and Christmas wrapping paper purchased at Castle Drogo. We will also be selling a small selection of potted Christmas trees and Christmas wreaths. Something to bear in mind!

Thanks again everyone and we hope to see many of you when you pop in for your free Castle Drogo car park pass.
