Hints

All exhibits must be cold.

Cooked exhibits should be shown on a doyley-covered plate and covered.

(Paper plates and cling film will be available in case you forget to bring your own!)

Traditionally all preserves were covered by a wax disc and then sealed with a cellophane jam pot cover held in place with a rubber band. Vinegar-proof new lids should be used for pickles and chutneys.

Jars should not bear trade labels. Metal lids (if used) should be new.

Jars should have a display label stating type of preserve and date.

Judges look for culinary skill, so, for example, flavour can be more important than appearance!

Instant germination within a week before the show: mustard and cress; leaf salads; pea shoots; bean sprouts.

Longer term: French beans; bush tomato in a flower pot; potatoes in a container; courgettes; marrow; squash.

Look at the seed packet, patio varieties grow quicker and can be grown in a bucket or large flower pot, more easily watered, fed and weeded than if the plant is in the open garden.
